

Here at Santa's Workshop we take your privacy seriously and will only use your personal information to assess levels of goodness or badness in line with our present assignment services. Our loyal agents gather this information and pass it securely back to us, and we will not share your personal data with any other agency.

By believing in Santa and agreeing to receive gifts in return you are bound to contract according to the above terms. If you do not wish to consent to this contract simply repeat 'I do not believe in Santa' aloud, at which point all your data will be purged from our systems except for that necessary to prevent future contact.

In the case of children who believe, we will request consent from their guardians before proceeding with the gift exchange contract.

Wishing you a suitably private merry Christmas, and a very secure New Year,

Santa Claus
